8.1.2.2 Notwithstanding clause 8.1.2.1 above, the League has ultimate discretion to determine whether a player is eligible to play in Finals matches.

8.1.3 If a player plays in more than one Home and Away Season match for Premiership Points during one round, all of those matches will count towards their qualification for finals in that Division.

8.1.4 For the sake of clarification, matches played in different age group levels will be added for calculating the matches played to be eligible for finals, subject to these By-Laws. A player who is eligible to play in Finals matches with an Affiliated Club under these By-Laws may play in Finals in any age group Division where Premiership Points are determined for which they are also eligible by age and registration.

8.1.4.1 For the avoidance of doubt, this includes players from the 55s Age Division and the Women's Non-Contact Division.

8.1.5 For the sake of clarification, matches played in different age group levels may be added for calculating the matches played to be eligible for finals, subject to these By-Laws.

A player who has played the same number of matches or more in a higher level based on clause 4.2 will only be eligible to play in the lower level if both teams are playing in finals in accordance with the examples below and these By Laws

8.1.6 If an Affiliated Club has teams competing in more than one age group Division in a Final or Finals on a particular weekend, the player is eligible to be selected for both matches.

- 8.1.7 If an Affiliated Club has two teams competing in the same age group Division of a competition, it must nominate the squads for each team prior to the Home and Away Season commencing and players are only eligible to play for their nominated team in that age group Division, subject to the League granting special consideration on the basis that less than 22 players are available to play in a Home and Away Season match for the other Affiliated Club's team(s). For the avoidance of doubt, a player must play equal or more matches for a team that has qualified for finals in an age group Division where an Affiliated Club has two or more teams in that competition to be eligible to play finals for that team, subject to otherwise satisfying the finals qualification criteria in these By-Laws.

Examples:

- A. A player plays in 4 Home and Away Season matches in their Club's 35s team and 4 Home and Away Season matches in their Club's 35s Reserves team. - B. A player has played in 4 35s matches during the Home and Away Season and 4 35s Reserves matches in the Home and Away Season, and both the 35s and 35s Reserves teams are in the finals on the same weekend. The player is permitted to play in the 35s Reserves team in the final. However, if the 35s Reserves team wins and 35s team loses and is eliminated, the player is not eligible to play in the Reserves team in the next Final.
- C. A player plays 4 matches in the 35s Reserves team and 4 matches in the 45s team in the Home and Away Season. The 45s team is the only team which qualifies to play finals. The player would be ineligible to play in the 45s team finals. However,
 - a. If only the 35s Reserves team made the Finals the player would be able to play in the 35s Reserves team;
 - b. If both the 35s Reserves team and the 45s team made the finals on the same weekend, the player would be permitted to play in both the 35s and the 45s team finals.
 - c. If the 45s team won and the 35s Reserves team lost and was eliminated, the player would not be eligible to play in the 45s team in the next Final.

- 8.1.8 If an Affiliated Club has teams in different age group levels playing in both finals and Home and Away Season matches on the same weekend, a player is eligible to play in any of the Affiliated Club's teams on that weekend, provided that the player proposing to play in the team playing in the finals meets the eligibility criteria of these By-Laws.

AFL Masters was formulated in 1980, all matches are conducted under the Laws of Australian Rules Football.

The major rule modifications are listed here. AFL Masters Umpires will let you know on the field of any infringements you may have made.
